Department of Music

The Department of Music invites nominations and applications for two positions of Regular, Limited-Term Instructor/Assistant Professor of Voice (Statesboro Campus).

In January 2017, the University System of Georgia Board of Regents voted to consolidate Armstrong State University and Georgia Southern University. The new, 27,000-student university will be named Georgia Southern University with campuses in Savannah, Statesboro, and Hinesville. The expected timeline for the first entering class will be fall 2018. Complete details are available at http://consolidation.georgiasouthern.edu/.

Within this setting, the Department of Music offers student-centered degree programs at the bachelor’s and master’s level. Students are mentored by a faculty of dedicated teacher-scholars, who are nationally and internationally known in their fields of expertise.

Position Description. Reporting to the Department Chair, the limited-term Instructor/Assistant Professor of Voice requires: 1) teaching applied voice lessons (undergraduate and graduate), voice studio, and/or other related courses (which may include class voice, diction, opera theatre, pedagogy, and vocal literature); 2) actively recruiting potential music majors; 3) attending area and department meetings; 4) serving on juries; and 5) other teaching duties as assigned by the Chair, based on the candidate’s strengths and departmental needs. These positions are for the Statesboro Campus. All limited-term positions are non-tenure track, academic (9/10 month) year appointments. Appointments are made on a one-year basis; yearly reappointments are based on satisfactory performance and available funding. The salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications for Limited-Term Instructor:
• Earned master’s in Vocal Performance or related field by August 1, 2018
• Evidence of successful voice teaching in a variety of styles
• Strong technical and musical skills as a performer
• Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution

Required Qualifications for Limited-Term Assistant Professor:
• Earned doctorate in Vocal Performance or related field by August 1, 2018
• Evidence of successful voice teaching in a variety of styles
• Strong technical and musical skills as a performer
• Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution
Screening of applications begins June 1, 2018, and continues until the position is filled. The preferred position starting date is August 1, 2018. A complete application consists of a letter addressing the qualifications cited above; a curriculum vitae; links to online examples of recent performances (and teaching demonstrations, if available); unofficial graduate transcripts; and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of at least five professional references. Other documentation may be requested. Only complete applications submitted electronically will be considered. Finalists will be required to submit to a background investigation. Applications and nominations should be sent to:
